WHAT WE'RE BUILDING

n8n picks who. Joanne calls.

TWO WAYS TO DIAL

One call, or a sequence.

OUTBOUND TRIGGER

One request, one call now

- Which agent, which number
- Context the agent reads first
- From n8n, GoHighLevel or anything

LEADLOCK SEQUENCE

Steps over days

- Calls, texts, waits
- Retries when nobody answers
- Business hours, stops when done

THE DATA · WHAT EACH ONE READS

Dates drive the calls.

WORKFLOW	READS	PICKS	WHO CALLS
Off-rent reminders	`Rentals.end_date`	Ending in 2 days	Joanne
Delivery confirmations	`Rentals.start_date`	Starting tomorrow	Joanne
Ticket closed	`Service.status`	Closed since last run	Jim Bob, by sequence

Nobody types a number.

UNDER THE HOOD · THE OUTBOUND TRIGGER

One request per call.

THE SEQUENCE · GRANITE PEAK - SERVICE FOLLOW-UP

Jim Bob tries twice, then texts.

IT ALSO

- Waits for business hours
- Stops when it's done
- Enrolled by n8n
- Off until you turn it on

Leadlock.ai

PRIVACY · EVEN WHEN YOU DIALED

Verify on outbound too.

JOANNE Hey there, it's Joanne at Granite Peak, calling about a rental that's due back soon. Is this Dan?

CALLER Yep, that's me.

JOANNE Quick code to your email on file first, sugar.

`send_verification_code · verify_code`

JOANNE Your 777 haul truck is due back in two days. Extend it, or set the pickup?

THE RULE

- Greeting says why, not what
- No details before the code
- Wrong person? Take a message

BUILD IT · SAY THIS · 1 OF 2

Two workflows for Joanne.

Say this · Claude Code in the Agent Kit

> Build an n8n workflow called Granite Peak - Off-rent reminders. Every morning at 8, read Granite Peak - Rentals for rentals ending in 2 days, and for each one ask Leadlock to have Joanne call the customer, passing first_name, unit, model and end_date as context. Keep it inactive until I say so.

Say this · Claude Code in the Agent Kit

> Build an n8n workflow called Granite Peak - Delivery confirmations. Every afternoon at 3, find rentals starting tomorrow and have Joanne call to confirm the delivery time and the site. Keep it inactive.

BUILD IT · SAY THIS · 2 OF 2

Jim Bob's sequence, then greetings.

Say this · Claude Code in the Agent Kit

> Make a Leadlock sequence called Granite Peak - Service follow-up for Jim Bob: call the day after a ticket closes to check the machine is running right, try once more the next afternoon if there's no answer, then send a short text. Leave it off.

Say this · Claude Code in the Agent Kit

> Build an n8n workflow called Granite Peak - Ticket closed. Every hour, find tickets in Granite Peak - Service closed since the last run and enroll that customer in the Granite Peak - Service follow-up sequence. Keep it inactive.

Say this · Claude Code in the Agent Kit

> Give Joanne and Jim Bob an outbound greeting that uses the context from these workflows, and make sure they verify before talking about the account.

TEST IT · SAY THIS

Dry run first. Then one real call.

Say this · Claude Code in the Agent Kit

> Dry-run Granite Peak - Off-rent reminders: show me who it would call today and the context it would send, without placing any calls.

Say this · Claude Code in the Agent Kit

> Put my number on one test rental ending in 2 days, run Granite Peak - Off-rent reminders once, then put the rental back.

`Prefer GoHighLevel?` Same thing, with a tag.
